O world, I cannot hold thee close enough
Thy winds, thy wide grey skies!
Thy mists, that roll and rise!
Thy woods, this autumn day, that ache and sag
And all but cry with colour! That gaunt crag
To crush! To lift the lean of that black bluff.
World, World, I cannot get thee close enough.

Walking along under the rich blue sky with leaves crackling beneath our feet, we feel the cool crisp air blow gently against our faces. The world, as if it has just been created, is suddenly ours for the first time. The sylvan surroundings, the road with no end, the air, the scintillating sky combine in splendor and mount in expectation for the days to come. The sun streams down steadily, bathing the soul with warmth. All thoughts burst forth in expression of the beauty that surrounds and enthralls the very inner being.

The road ascends. Our thoughts break forth in questions of anguish and confusion, contrasting with the placid surroundings. Our restless spirit calls out for a destiny. It demands an answer to life's riddles. It demands an end to dissatisfaction, laxity, and indecision. A plotted course must be obtained. The world must be cleansed, every opportunity seized, every advantage offered.

We continue walking. The answer is found. It lies within ourselves. We are the means and the ends. We are the hope for the present and the linkage to the future. The endless challenge to improve, to make better must be present. Each person has a job to do; each person has a duty to perform. Some are small, some are large, but each is important. What is life but putting a smile on someone else's face, helping a small child up after a fall, or picking a rose? Life is a present, each day being a package of excitement, disappointment, or experiences. The world is ours. The frontier new. We continue walking. Realization overcomes us.

Dedication '67

To be able to enter into the spirit of a classroom, into the very hearts of the students, requires a special person. Having a gift for understanding and sincerity unequalled, this special person gives to each student a vital part of herself. Unselfishly and completely, she has performed a job well-done, always trying to improve herself and thus improving those around her. With soft brown hair, sparkling eyes, and a radiant smile that demands response, Mrs. Linda Totten has contributed much to everyone she has been associated with. Vigor, energy, a youthful disposition -- for these reasons and for just being the wonderful person she is, the 1967 TAU is dedicated to her and for her with respect and deep appreciation.

THE BRAVE

NEW WORLD

In the secret hearts of men, in the very inner soul, there is a vastness, a certain longing for a destiny. The soul calls out for a new way of living, for the key to a brave new world. Men yearn for simplicity of true feeling, for perfection in daily tasks, and for a unity in their own being. Man is constantly searching, groping, hoping and praying. The brave new world is the answer. Here men find. Here men grasp and fulfill and live in a rebirth of splendor. The brave new world is there for those that seek it. It exists for those who pulsate with the joy of living. It presents itself in a kaleidoscope of color. It can be found mostly in zealous youth. It is often lacking in the predestined old or in the narrow-minded or in the pessimist. The brave new world lies beyond the mountains; it reaches skyward to infinity. The brave new world calls. The answers cannot be denied.

*The best books haven't been written,
The best race hasn't been run,
The best score hasn't been made yet,
The best song hasn't been sung,
The best tune hasn't been played yet;
Cheer up, for the world is young!*

- Berton Braley

The many worlds of high school present themselves in a variety of different ways, improving, stimulating, and maturing the people associated with them. During high school years one broadens his views, adds to his knowledge, and most important finds himself. The Brave New World is indeed the answer. It indeed exists at J. H. Rose High School. It presents itself in sports, clubs, activities, and the very students themselves. Reach out. This world is yours.

Debbie,

It has been great having a friend like you for so many years. We've certainly had some good times haven't we? Some bad ones too (H.A.!!)

It seems impossible that we're almost seniors! Boy I'm glad, yet sad because my high school years have been the happiest of my life. But I'm planning even better ones for college!

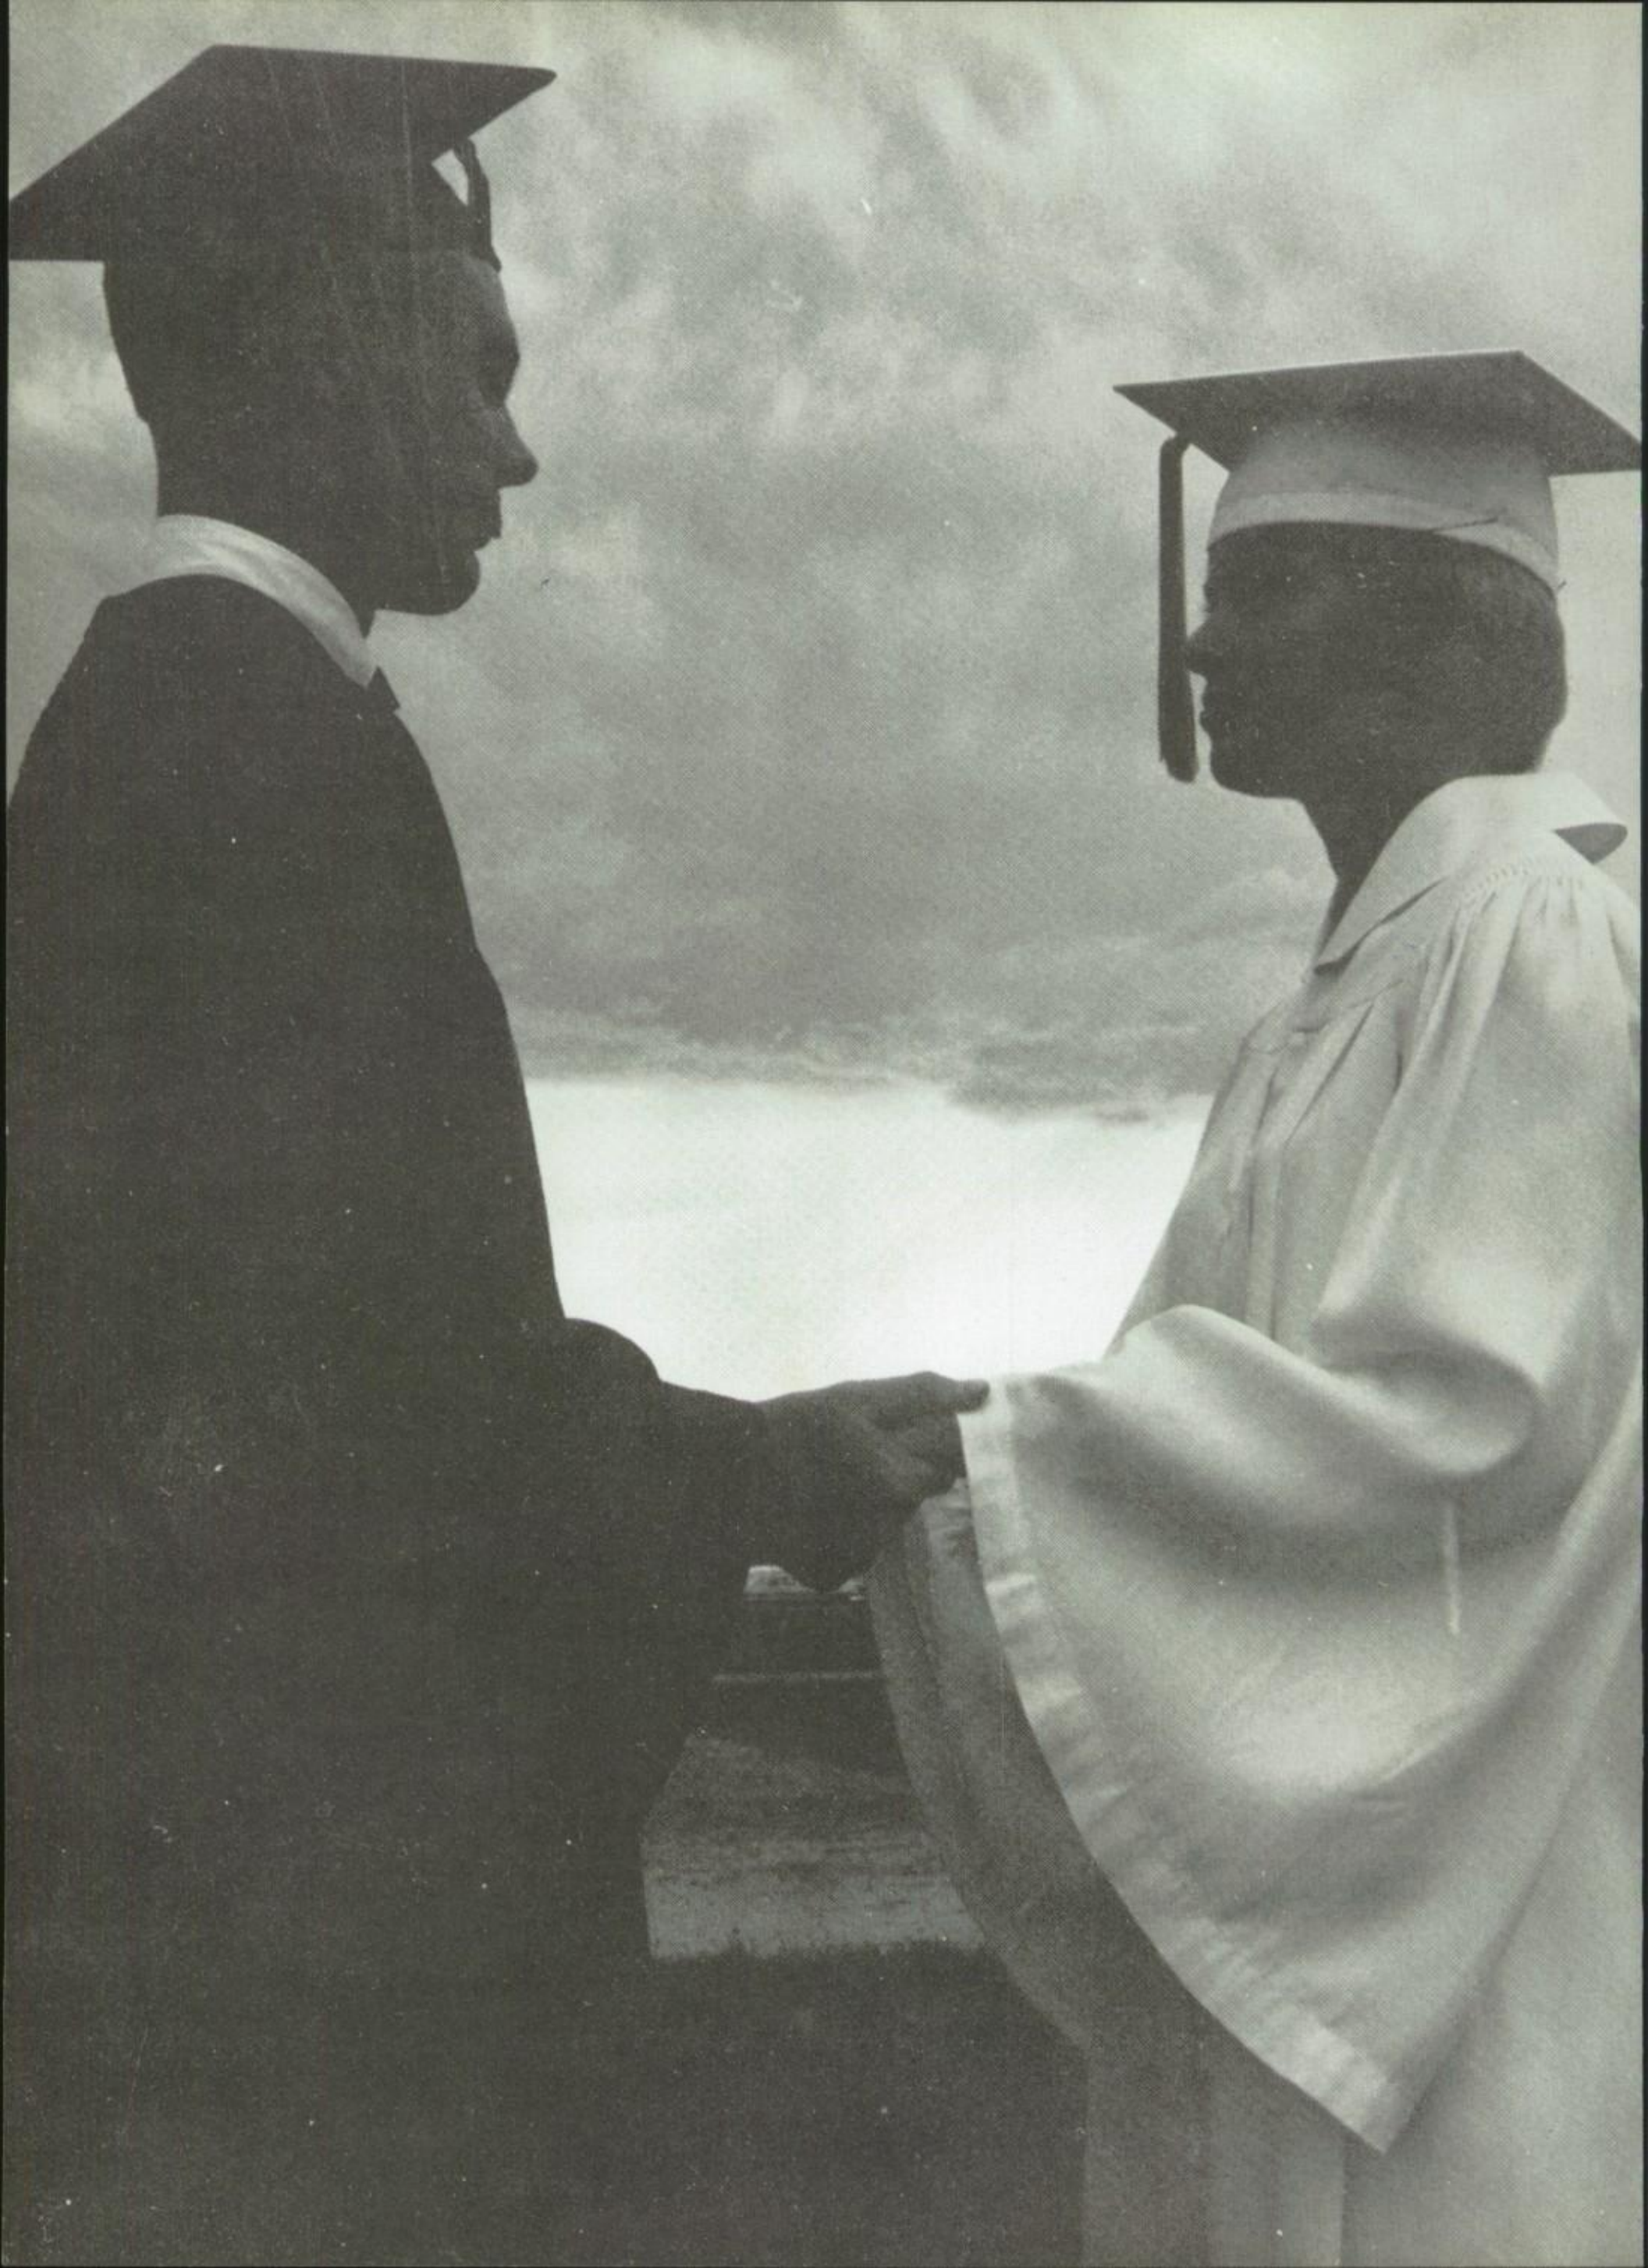

This has been "my" year. So many wonderful things have come my way. It's been yours too. I can think of that one "wonderful thing" that happened to you which overshadows all else!!

Best of Luck to you & Tom. I'm glad he's made you happy. I guess this year will end Roz & me! We'll be gone next year & I'll be gone the next four, so our future looks awfully doubtful - even dating! Oh well!! I know even if he & I find someone else, I'll always love him for the wonderful person he is!

And I'll always love you for the wonderful person you are! I stay my friend forever. I need friends like you. Best wishes for a very happy future which you deserve. May God Bless.
Love,
Quincy L.

Homecoming Activities

The 1967 Homecoming Activities proved to be a big success with "Somewhere Over the Rainbow" as the theme. Spirit was high as the students of J. H. Rose entered their gymnasium decorated with streamers, balloons, and a rainbow having a pot of gold at its end. Chosen by the Monogram Club, Jean Hodges was the reigning homecoming queen, assisted by Junior Princess Reva McDermott, Sophomore Princess Connie Richardson, and Freshman Princess Suzie Stocks. Following their crowning was the annual homecoming parade. "Lick 'em," the theme for the sophomore entry, was the winning float. Mr. School Spirit Rodney Johnson and Miss School Spirit Barbara Hardee were featured on a ladder of the Pep Club Float entry. Lastly, the Homecoming activities were high-lighted by a victory over the Elizabeth City Jackets by the Phantoms that night.

It takes team work . . .

The mighty Phantoms of Rose High defeated Wilson by a score of 58-53 to win the season's opener. The Phantoms were led by Ikie Arnold with 22 points and David Fowler added 12 points.

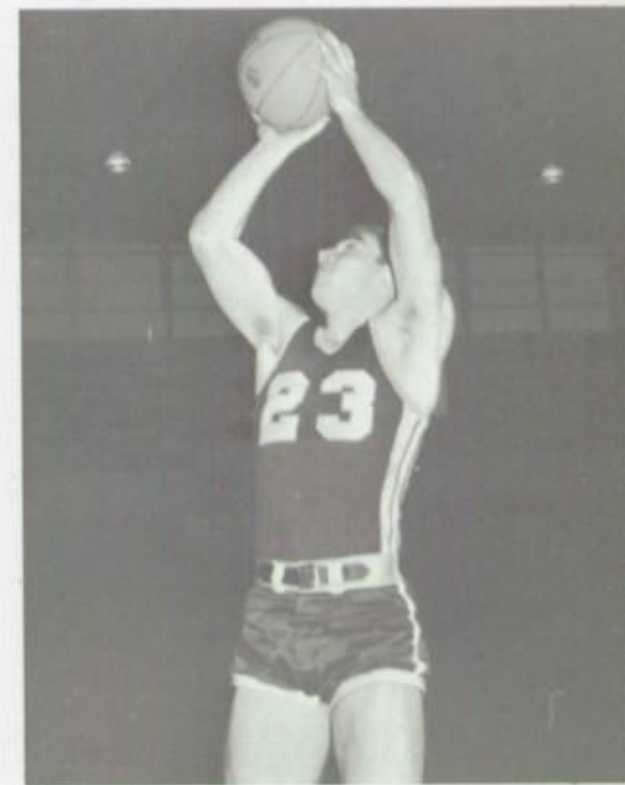

Seeking revenge the Cyclones used foul shots to defeat Rose in the second game of the season by a score of 62-55. Jimmy Smith led Rose with 16 points while Fowler had 13 points.

JIMMY SMITH, Senior

Two foul shots with one second showing gave the Pam Pack of Washington a 57-55 win. Two turnovers in the final minute of play by Rose led West Carteret to a 37-36 victory. Smith and Fowler each scored 8 points in the low scoring game.

 girl who will go a long way.
 L. J. C. - Polly

Every year at this time someone struggles to write a paragraph to all of you from all of us on the TAU Staff. Each one of us wants this yearbook to mean something just as special to each of you as it is to us.

Sometime in the future, if you or your children see something that makes you remember your high school years, or some other pleasant memory, then we have reached our goal.

In the future each one of you will take your place in some brave new world. The future holds many exciting and worthwhile adventures for all of us. We hope that these days at J. H. Rose High School become a pleasant memory as each of you enters your own Brave New World.

Brave New World

O, wonder!

How many goodly creatures are there here!

How beauteous mankind is! O brave new world,

That has such people in it.

The TAU Staff is very much indebted to the various merchants of Greenville, who not only support the yearbook, but also do much to co-operate in the advertising section and the various tasks that go into preparing the advertising section and taking pictures. PATIENCE is a virtue and the merchants of Greenville receive a round of applause from the Tau Staff.

Thank You

To all the merchants of Greenville who support not only the TAU and the Greenlights, but also many other school clubs and functions.

The merchants are one of those behind-the-scenes men who help make possible many of the activities that most of us take for granted.

To all the merchants from the student body at

J. H. Rose High School

We again say thank you!
